

"The PwC Accounting Career Leadership Institute has made a difference in the academic and career plans of hundreds of talented high school students. This program provides a one-of-a-kind opportunity to get a firsthand knowledge about a dynamic profession and the many opportunities that exist. It also provides extensive networking opportunities with many Bryant faculty and PwC professionals, including numerous partners, who want to help you embark on a successful career."

PROFESSOR DENNIS BLINE, PhD
PROFESSOR
ACCOUNTING DEPARTMENT

PwC Accounting Careers Leadership Institute

(PwCACL I) is a five-day, hands-on opportunity for rising high school seniors to learn more about the accounting profession and about the key role accountants play in society. Throughout the program, students work directly with Bryant University faculty, staff, and students, as well as professionals from PricewaterhouseCoopers (PwC)—one of the largest professional services firms in the world.

Accounting: A career without boundaries

Forget the stereotypes you've heard—accountants are problem-solvers. Today's accountants help people understand how businesses create value for individuals and society. They provide assurance that the financial dealings of businesses, not-for-profit organizations, and government offices meet the highest standards.

Students graduating from reputable accounting programs are in high demand and have opportunities to immediately apply their knowledge in the workplace. Accounting firms, government offices, banks, financial institutions, law enforcement agencies, law firms, business intelligence firms, and tax authorities are a few examples of opportunities for accounting graduates. The average starting salary ranges from $50,000 to $65,000 in the New England area.

THE LESSONS YOU LEARN AT THE INSTITUTE ARE GAINED INSIDE AND OUTSIDE OF THE CLASSROOM. OBTAIN IMPORTANT INSIGHTS INTO:

- The role of accountants in society
- Leadership
- Team building
- Careers in accounting
- Innovative technology
- How to apply for college

Valuable experience

PwC and Bryant are committed to helping high school students explore their career choices. You'll meet and talk to professionals who perform a surprising variety of functions in the field of accounting. During this five-day program, you will spend a day at the PwC offices in Boston and get an insider's view into the accounting profession and the firm. You'll learn firsthand what it's like to work in this field. The institute is also an opportunity for you to meet new people and learn team-building and leadership skills as you work together in groups on a variety of projects. Games and exercises will show you how much can be accomplished when individuals with varying talents work together on a task—a valuable lesson for any career you select.

In addition, staff from Bryant's offices of admission and financial aid and the leadership institute will be available to advise you on the college application process so that you can take full advantage of your options after high school.

No fee to attend

Bryant and PwC want high school students to learn more about various areas in accounting in an environment that is both fun and educational. Except for transportation cost, the program is offered at no charge to students who apply and are accepted into the PricewaterhouseCoopers Accounting Careers Leadership Institute (PwCACLI).

PwCACLI participants who are accepted and choose to attend Bryant University would be eligible for:

- A book stipend in the first year, thereafter based on meeting GPA and major requirements
- Professional mentor from PwC during their four years of college
- PwC Endowed Scholarship Fund*
- Guaranteed internship interview with PwC

Based on meeting GPA and major requirements*

Future benefits from Bryant University:

- Application fee to Bryant University waived when you apply for admission
- Faculty mentor
- Peer mentor
- One credit awarded for completion of the program

"I am so grateful to have had the opportunity to attend PwC's ACLI, which first exposed me to the many different facets of the accounting profession and guided me towards the specialty that I work in today. Through ACLI, I also developed relationships with mentors, colleagues, and friends that remain—almost 18 years later."

STARR HAWKINS,
TAX DIRECTOR

"Bryant University's PwCACLI program provided me the opportunity to connect with current Bryant students and learn more about the accounting industry. I was able to engage in career workshops and develop innovative leadership skills by working with different accounting professors. The PwCACLI program was a valuable experience that prepared me for a future career as an accountant."
